SUMMER COBBLER COCKTAIL

SERVING:

1 DRINK

TIME:

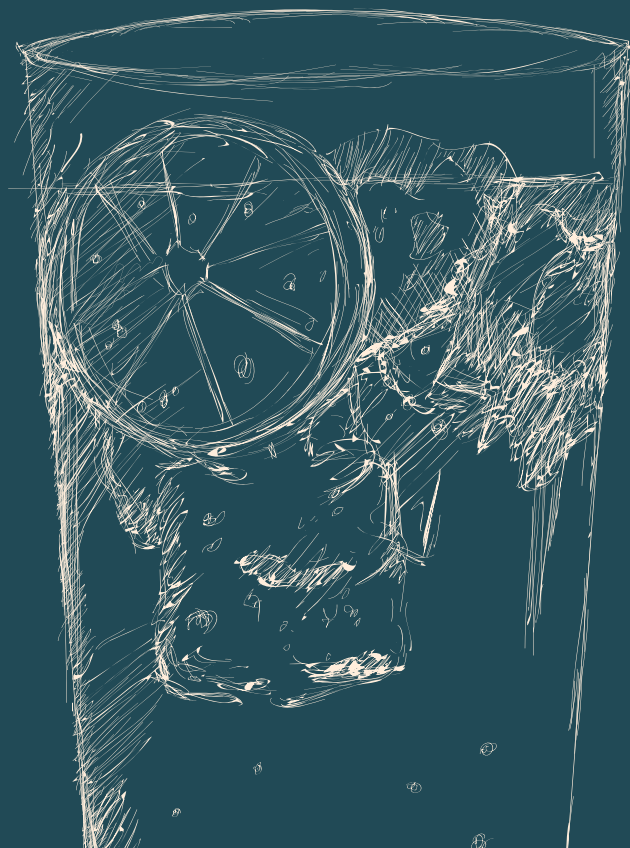

5 MINUTES

INGREDIENTS

- 3 tablespoons (1 1/2 oz.) white whiskey
- 1 1/2 tablespoons (3/4 oz.) Grand Marnier or other orange-flavored liqueur
- 1 tablespoon fresh lime juice
- 1 1/2 teaspoons Blackberry Preserves
- 3 fresh blackberries
- fresh blackberries and lime peel twist for garnish

DIRECTIONS

Combine 3 Tbsp. (1 1/2 oz.) white whiskey, 1 1/2 Tbsp. (3/4 oz.) Grand Marnier or other orange-flavored liqueur, 1 Tbsp. fresh lime juice, 1 1/2 tsp. Blackberry Farm Blackberry Preserves, and 3 fresh blackberries in an ice-filled cocktail shaker. Cover with lid, and shake until mixed and thoroughly chilled, about 45 seconds. Strain whiskey mixture into an old-fashioned glass filled with crushed ice. Garnish with fresh blackberries and lime peel twists.

QUESTIONS WITH LAUREN

"DO I REALLY NEED VERBAL CONSENT?"

THE IMPORTANCE OF CONSENT

BY LAUREN SUMMER

WHAT IS VERBAL CONSENT?

I think we can all agree that consent is a no-brainer, but what is consent? And what is good enough? Strictly physical cues, like being kissed back, aren't enough. Consent is 50/50. Both people must agree to sex, every single time, for it to be consensual. On Planned Parenthood's website, they say "Consent is as easy as FRIES". It reads as follows:

- Freely given. Consenting is a choice you make without pressure, manipulation, or under the influence of drugs or alcohol.
- Reversible. Anyone can change their mind about what they feel like doing, anytime. Even if you've done it before, and even if you're both naked in bed.
- Informed. You can only consent to something if you have the full story. For example, if someone says they'll use a condom and then they don't, there isn't full consent.
- Enthusiastic. When it comes to sex, you should only do stuff you WANT to do, not things that you feel you're expected to do.
- Specific. Saying yes to one thing (like going to the bedroom to make out) doesn't mean you've said yes to anything else (like having sex).

Consent is always clearly communicated — there should be no if, ands, or buts about it. Silence is not consent. Smiling is not consent. Kissing is not consent. Verbal consent is consent. And it's not just important on first dates or hook-ups! Even couples who've had sex before, or even have sex often, still need to consent to having sex. Every. Single. Time.

Sex is best when both parties are comfortable, enthusiastic, and consenting adults. Trust me.

*Make Her Feel Like
Royalty*

Buy her a piece of jewelry. It doesn't have to be Tiffany's! The first piece of jewelry I received was Kohl's-level quality and it absolutely made my heart burst. (Piece of advice. Maybe not a cliché heart pendant or infinity symbol. Go for something that makes you think of her!)

Buy champagne and have dinner cooked and ready for her when she gets home. Light some candles, set the table, and make her feel special. Does she have a favorite dessert? Get that too! Just a little thought goes a long way!

Take cute pictures of her without her having to ask! At an "Instagrammable" spot? Ask for her phone and tell her to stand somewhere for a nice photo. She'll feel confident, cute, and like you think she just looks so fine that day that you just had to document it..
Source? Experience

Want something a little more simple? Leave the spoiling to the professionals. Book her a spa day at a nice hotel! They'll give her a massage, champagne, and be at her beck and call all day, so you can relax at home knowing you done did good.
