VENICE FILM FESTIVAL 2018

Ciao Venezia

LADY GAGA EMBODIES LA DOLCE VITA, WHILE OTHER STARS STUN ON THE RUBY RED CARPET – BELLISIMA!

On March 28, 1986, at Lenox Hill Hospital in New York a star was born – and by August 31, 2018, in Venice, Italy, Lady Gaga had propelled to superstar status! Arriving at the screening of her new film A Star Is Born at the 75th Venice Film Festival, Ms Gaga exuded old Hollywood glam, and her co-star Bradley Cooper, 43, looked pretty dazzling, too!

'I remember when we first met, after 10 minutes we were eating homemade food that she cooked – I love to eat,' Bradley says of Gaga, 32. The actor 'fell in love with her face and eyes' while filming the movie remake, which has earned rave reviews by the festival's judges and Oscar buzz.

'It was a remarkable experience for me,' Gaga says of her blockbuster debut. Bravo!

The singer says her film A Star is Born is 'about love and about what Bradley refers to as the human plight of addiction'

OH, HEY!

Dapper duo Joe Alwyn, 27, and Nicholas Hoult, 28, are more famous for the women they date (Joe's Taylor Swift's man and Nic was once Mr JLaw), but it was their bromance that took centre stage at The Favourite photocall. Tilda Swinton, 57, Dakota Johnson, 28, and Chloë Grace Moretz, 21, also brought some serious style.

'What an absolutely wonderful first experience here,' Suspiria star Chloë said of her time at the film festival

'We really hit it off,' Emma recalls of meeting Ryan. 'He's a wonderful person, but also an incredible actor. It's a lucky thing that we get to do three. It's not bad'

Emma confesses 'I can't live without Ryan'

FANS NEVER STOPPED LOVING RYAN AND EMMA... AND NEITHER DID SHE!

The Venice Film Festival was a welcome reunion for long-time co-stars Emma Stone and Ryan Gosling. 'I can't even imagine what my life would be without Ryan,' Emma, 29, gushed of her 'dear, wonderful friend'. 'He's so special. It makes me emotional. He's so talented, but he's such a great person to work with because he's so collaborative and excited about the process.' she added.

But it didn't end there. Emma was full of praise for Ryan and keen to explain their special bond. 'The moment he walked into the audition of Crazy, Stupid, Love, we had an unspoken understanding of each other,' she says. And the feeling is mutual. 'There's nobody like her,' Ryan's said of Emma. 'As soon as she signed on to the film, I knew it was going to be good.'

After working together on Crazy, Stupid, Love (2011), Gangster Squad (2013) and La La Land (2016), Ryan, 37, and the actress' on-screen chemistry is undeniable.

And sources claim Ryan's baby mama Eva Mendes, 44, won't be happy to hear of their cosy catch up. 'Eva's jealous,' says an insider, adding that the couple 'have gotten into screaming matches' over Emma.

While Eva stayed home with their daughters – Esmeralda, three, and Amada, two – Ryan flew solo in Venice. He and Emma were even spotted heading into the same hotel on August 29. But despite Eva being 'fed up' with Emma and Ryan's flirtatious friendship, 'Ryan insists that there's nothing going on,' a source reveals.

THE COUPLE ARE PREPARING FOR THE ARRIVAL OF A NEW FAMILY MEMBER!

Victoria Beckham rarely cracks a smile, but as she bounced onto the pebbly shores of the French Riveria on August 28, with her hubby David Beckham and four children in tow, she gave a triumphant thumbs up! The uncharacteristic behaviour continued as Posh and Becks took their vacay to sea and lovingly shared a cuddle on the bow of the boat for all to see, while soaking up precious family time with their kids Brooklyn, 19, Romeo, 16, Cruz, 13, and Harper, seven. folllowing intense speculation about the state of their marriage, the pair were determined to send a clear message to the world: we're solid. But it seems there's much more to celebrate than their renewed relationship.

'Victoria is totally preggers!' an insider exclusively tells OK!. 'She already has the preggo glow,' adding, 'They are in shock.'

Despite her 44 years of age ('Posh's pals think she's crazy as she already has too much to juggle'), the couple have previously shared their desire to add to their brood.

'If we were lucky enough to have another one, it would be great,' the 43-year-old retired football star has revealed. 'If one [more] comes along that would be amazing.' As for Posh? 'She's wanted a fifth baby basically since right after Harper was born,' an insider tells.

However, with all the ups and downs that the pair have faced over the years – including allegations of cheating on David's part – Victoria says the couple have had to work hard to keep their marriage strong. 'People have been making things up about our relationship for 20 years, so David and I are pretty used to ignoring the nonsense and just carrying on as normal,' she recently told Vogue. 'We both realise that we're stronger together than we are as individuals. It's all about the family unit.'

And now, with a baby on the way, things are certainly looking up. 'David's back on track, remembering the birth of his daughter and how happy he was. The pregnancy really has saved them,' reveals OK!'s insider. 'Victoria has never been happier or more in love.'

'I can't help but stare at how skinny her ankles are,' says one concerned fan

In the past, Meghan has taken a balanced view towards eating. 'I don't ever want to feel deprived,' she once said

The first 100 days of royal life have been harder than Meghan, Duchess of Sussex, could ever have imagined. With her family at war, the former Suits star tried to put her troubles aside as she joined Prince Harry for a gala charity performance of the musical Hamilton at London's West End on August 29.

Even so, onlookers couldn't help but notice how fragile Meghan has become since marrying Harry in May. While some wellwishers have praised the 37-year-old for remaining 'poised' during her recent troubles, others have been shocked by her recent weight loss. Melanie McGrice from Nutrition Plus estimates that Meghan has lost about 6-7kg since her days on Suits.

Given that she only weighed around 56kg to begin with, that could put her down to 49kg – a figure quite low for her 170cm tall frame. 'She seems to be getting skinnier every day,' one fan commented. It's raised concerns that the strain may finally be taking its toll on Meghan, after months of scathing public attacks from her dad Thomas Markle, 74, and her half-siblings Samantha, 53, and Thomas Jr, 52. 'As much as Meghan is living a fairytale, her life isn't perfect,' confides one insider.

But there could also be another very different reason behind Meghan's recent slim-down. With reports swirling that 'a baby announcement isn't far off', word around the palace is that Meghan could already be in the early stages of pregnancy.

Melanie, a fertility and prenatal dietitian, confirms that 'some people lose weight when they're stressed.' But it can also be an unexpected early symptom for expectant mums. 'Some women do lose weight in the early stages of pregnancy,' Melanie explains. 'Especially if they're experiencing significant morning sickness.'

It's well known that Meghan's own sister-in-law Catherine, Duchess of Cambridge, suffered from hyperemesis gravidarum through all three of her pregnancies – a condition which can be associated with weight loss and dehydration.

> SHE SEEMS TO BE GETTING SKINNIER EVERY DAY

An impending baby announcement could also explain why Meghan and Harry, 33, have both been laying low for most of August. But things are about to speed up as the pair head to Sydney for the Invictus Games next month. In a sign of how much they're looking forward to the trip, Harry and Meghan have reportedly called their new dog Oz! The couple adopted a black labrador, who will reportedly divide its time 'between the palace and their country home in the Cotswolds'. That's one pampered pooch!

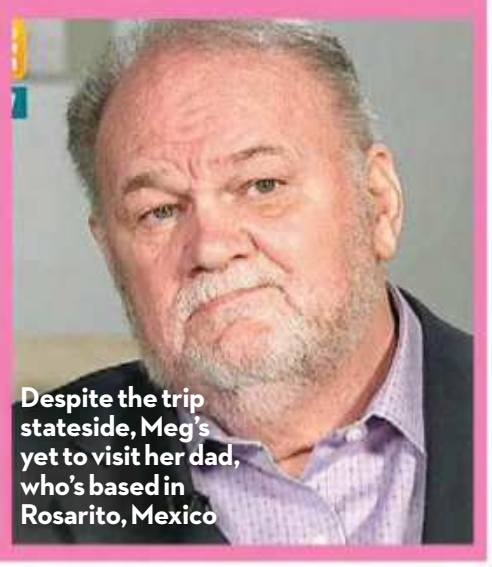

During their night out, Meghan revealed her secret nickname for Harry is 'my love'

Jess' kids – who were part of the royal wedding party – 'love seeing their Auntie Meg'

LONELY MEGHAN'S SECRET VISIT HOME

Leaving the gates of Kensington Palace, a lonely and stressed Meghan took a secret commercial flight to Canada on August 28 for a three-day stay with her best friend Jessica Mulroney – a familiar face she'd been craving. 'Meghan and Jessica spent their days catching up, lounging poolside and playing with children,' royal reporter Omid Scobie says. 'There was also an evening out with friends.' Meghan has often talked about her 'dear friend' Jess, who lives in Toronto.

Despite the trip stateside, Meg's yet to visit her dad, who's based in Rosarito, Mexico

ALL THE LATEST CELEBRITY NEWS YOU NEED TO KNOW

Could the rapper be hiding something between the lines of his lyrics?

Kim & Drake's

'SECRET AFFAIR'

A SALACIOUS NEW FAN THEORY HAS GOT US SCRATCHING OUR HEADS

'Kiki, do you love me?' That's the question Drake asks in his new track In My Feelings, and fans are now wondering whether the object of the rapper's affections could actually be none other than Kim Kardashian!

A bizarre new conspiracy theory has surfaced, romantically tying Drake, 31, to the reality star – and the evidence is pretty convincing. In a series of tweets posted on August 31, a Twitter user explained why several of the rapper's lyrics from his new album Scorpion could be references to a fling with the 37-year-old. The Twitter thread included a number of examples, most notably that 'Kiki' is the subject of his song and it's also one of Kim's nicknames. 'Drake's been telling us for months now he slept with Kim K. We just haven't been listening', the thread salaciously begins.

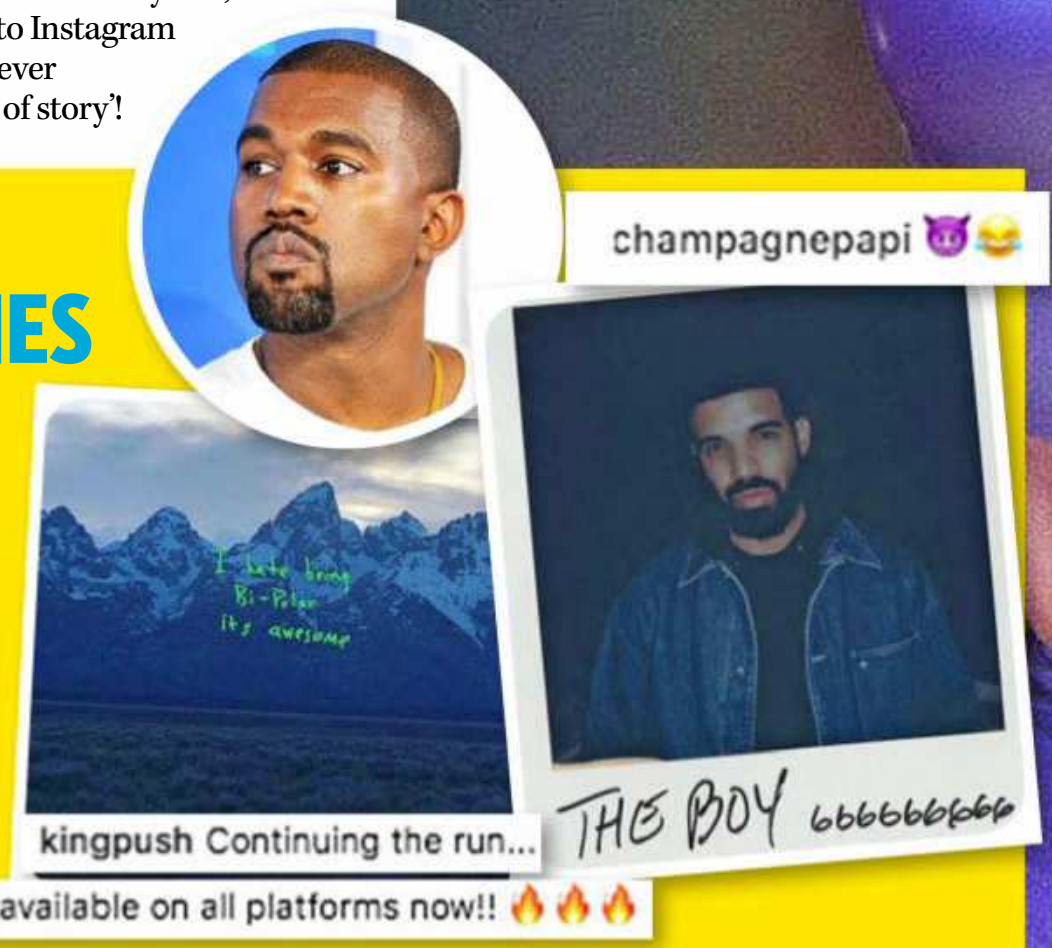

Among other examples was the distance between their homes in Hidden Hills, California, with Drake's lyrics seemingly pointing in the direction of Kim's mansion from his own place. 'I crept down the block, made a right, cut the lights, paid the price.'

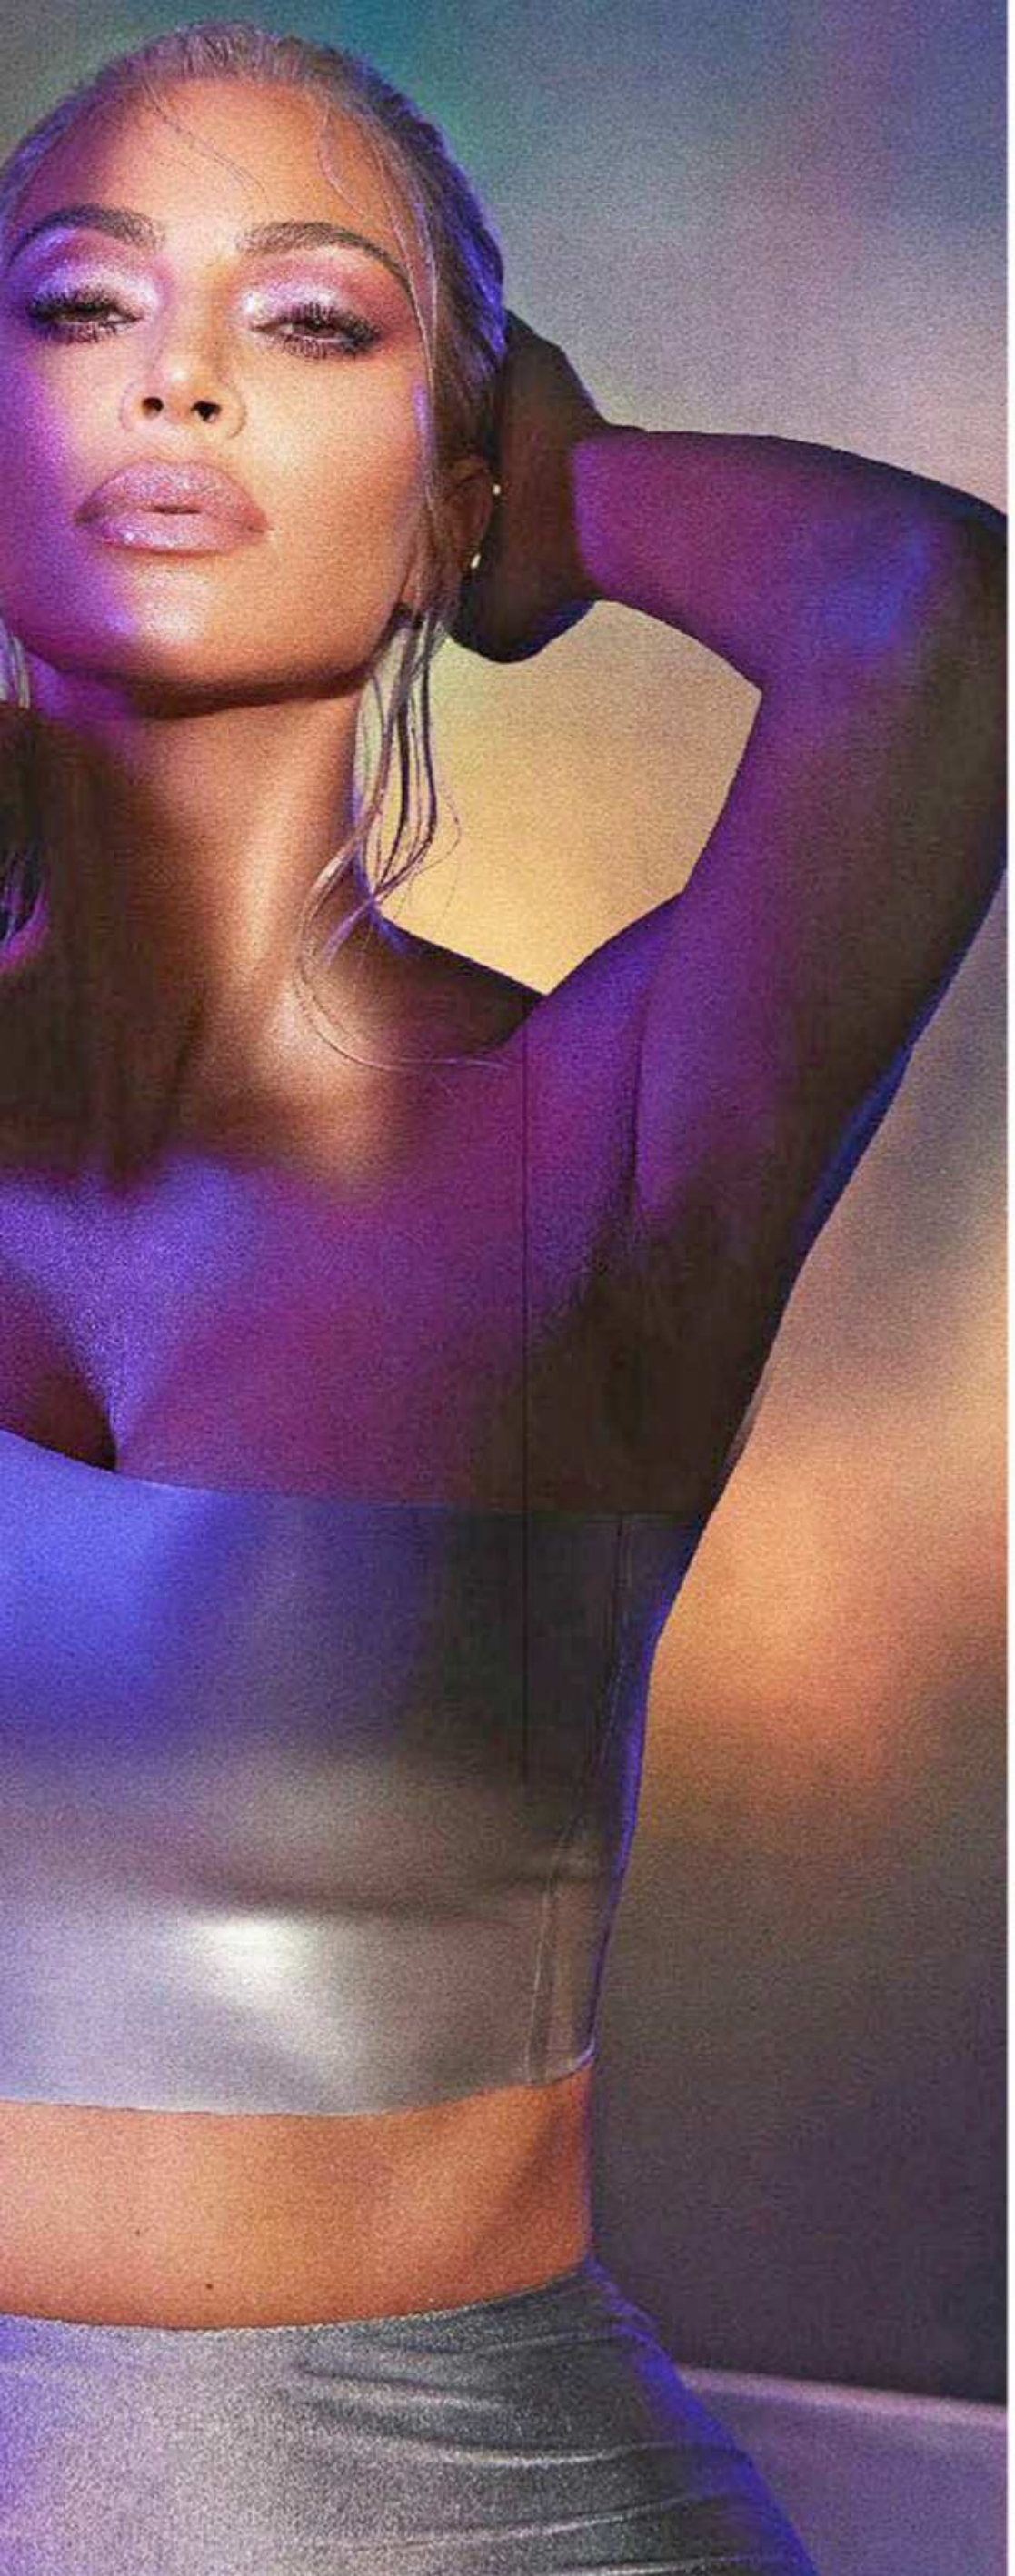

The rapper also uses the phrase 'your wifey' in 8 Out Of 10, possibly referencing the make-up mogul. 'I already hit her when you left her lonely. She's not the type who likes to take things slowly,' the song continues.

Considering Drake and Kim's hubby Kanye West are feuding, this fan theory hasn't sat well with the reality star, with Kim taking to Instagram to insist that it 'never happened... End of story'!

BEHIND ENEMY LINES

It doesn't look like Drake and Kanye's feud is coming to an end anytime soon, with the 41-year-old claiming that the two are fighting over a beat that resulted in Drake sending him purple demon emojis. 'When we talk about the Drake thing, it hits me in a really sensitive place,' Kanye shared.

Gwyn's confession

'I'M STILL MRS MARTIN!'

Despite their 'conscious uncoupling' back in 2014, Gwyneth Paltrow has revealed she still goes by ex-hubby Chris Martin's surname. 'I personally – legally – did keep my married last name. My legal name is Gwyneth Paltrow Martin,' the 45-year-old shared. 'I think in my case, because I'm known out in the world as Gwyneth Paltrow, I had always kept that identity in a way.' And while she's set to tie the knot with fiancé Brad Falchuk, Gwyn's decision has to do with her and Chris' kids – Apple, 14, and Moses, 12. 'In things related to school, I am Martin,' she says. 'Other children call me Mrs Martin, which is kind of hilarious.'

FANS AND STARS ALIKE CELEBRATE HER LEGACY

Lining up for hours before sunrise, Aretha Franklin fans were desperate to get one of the 1000 seats open to the public to say goodbye to the music legend at an emotional seven-hour funeral in Detroit on August 31. And it was a farewell fit for music royalty, with Ariana Grande, 25, and Jennifer Hudson, 36, paying tribute to the 'Queen of Soul' with two amazing performances.

Despite raising some eyebrows with her outfit, Ariana sang a beautiful reserved version of the diva's classic (You Make Me Feel Like) A Natural Woman.

FORCED TO APOLOGISE

Ariana looked noticeably uncomfortable as his fingers pressed into her chest

The bishop who led Aretha's funeral has issued an apology, after he was accused of groping Ariana on stage, which sparked widespread outrage. 'It would never be my intention to touch any woman's breast... I don't know, I guess I put my arm around her,' Charles H Ellis III says of the incident. 'Maybe I crossed the border, maybe I was too friendly or familiar, but again, I apologise.'

JUST LIKE KOURT?

Scott Disick's ex Kourtney Kardashian has admitted to having breast implants. 'It's not a secret,' she shared.

She just hit the big 2-0, and it looks like Sofia Richie might have celebrated the occasion by gifting herself two brand new... ahem, assets! The model sparked speculation that she has boosted her bust size, by showing off a noticeably fuller-looking chest while in Mexico for her birthday on August 24. 'New boobs?' questioned one follower. 'New year, new boobs,' joked another. Plastic surgeon Dr Daniel Barrett agrees with the social media speculation. 'Her upper projection and cleavage is a dead giveaway,' he says. 'At 20 years old, it's extremely unlikely this would have been a growth spurt of any sort.'

Having also struggled with her weight in the past, Teddi is the perfect coach

She welcomed her fifth child with hubby Dean McDermott in March last year, and understandably, Tori Spelling has found it difficult to shift her baby weight! 'I wasn't hitting the weight loss goals I had set for myself,' the 45-year-old shares. So, in order to get back on track, Tori has enlisted the help of Real Housewives of Beverly Hills star Teddi Mellencamp – who runs an accountability coach service – to get into shape. 'I've been so happy with the progress I've made, and proud of my accomplishments while safely hitting my goals!' Tori gushes.

THE MADDEN WIVES STEP OUT SANS THEIR HUBBIES

Mrs and Mrs Madden hit the town! Nicole Richie and Cameron Diaz were two peas in a pod when they caught up with actress Zoë Saldana and her hubby Marco Perego for dinner on August 28 to celebrate the actress' 46th birthday.

With their Good Charlotte rocker hubbies at home, Nicole, 36, and Cameron, 46, were laughing and joking as they left Il Segreto Ristorante Belair in Los Angeles, obviously enjoying their quality sister-in-law time.

And while the actress prefers to keep herself out of the spotlight these days, she didn't mind heading out on the town for an early birthday dinner with her gal pals and one gent.

The ladies aren't shy about sharing their love for one another, with Cam previously opening up about her sister-in-law on social media. 'We're sisters because of our misters, and I'm SO impressed by and proud of how talented she is,' Cam gushed of her fashion designer bestie.

While Nicole has referred to the Charlie's Angels star as 'a force of light, laughter and knowledge'. 'Her love for the women in her life shows in the type of friend and person she is,' the mum-of-two added. Aww!

'BEN'S A GROWN MAN!'

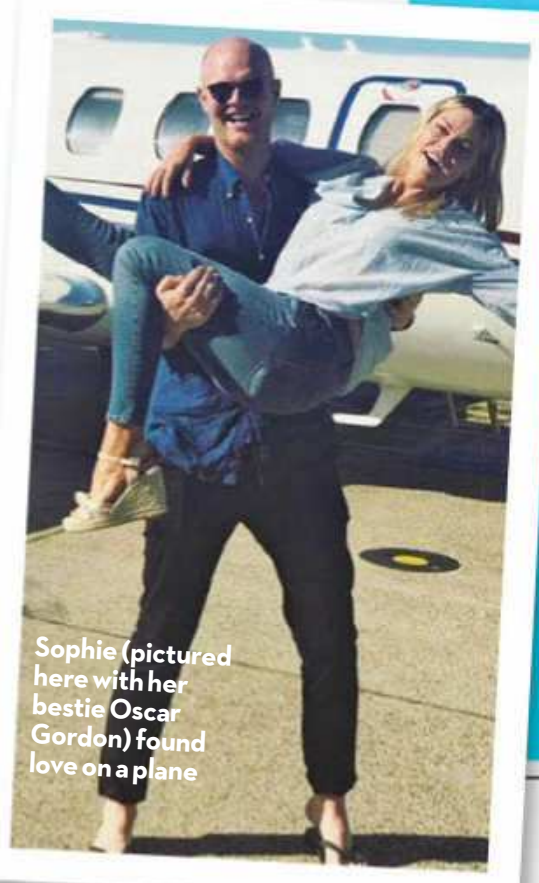

'We all are going to f--- up, it's just a matter of learning from it,' Shauna shared

Playboy model Shauna Sexton has hit back at a fan's suggestion that she contributed to Ben Affleck falling off the wagon. Despite her two arrests for underage drinking and public intoxication, she insists she 'never drank around or with him'. 'Do these mistakes mean I would disrespect someone's hard-earned sobriety by drinking with them or in front of them? Hell no,' shared the 22-year-old, who was spotted with Ben, 46, just before he entered rehab for a third time in August. 'Ben is a grown ass man, baby. He makes his own decisions. Blaming a 22-year-old for someone's third time in rehab is just ridiculous.'

Sophie's SECRET NEW BEAU!

Sophie Monk has revealed she's landed herself a new man – and you'll never guess where she met him! 'I'm sitting next to this random [on a plane] and it was business class, but there was no divider,' the 38-year-old shared. 'He was so charming and funny and he had no idea what I did.' After three champagnes the Love Island host made her move. 'I was sitting there for a while and I went, "Hey, um, are you single?" And he went, "Yeah." I went, "I don't ever get to meet people in normal scenarios and, um, can I kiss you?"' And after making out for 'a couple of hours', Sophie says they haven't 'stopped speaking ever since' and have plans to meet up again. 'I feel like it's going to work,' she adds. 'He's normal, down-to-earth and intelligent.'

Jen's hot makeover

IT'S MY TIME TO SHINE

THE ACTRESS LOOKS BETTER THAN EVER!

Jennifer Garner is one hot mama! The star debuted her smoking hot look at the premiere of her new film Peppermint on August 28 – looking glam in a black one-shoulder gown.

And her trainer Simone De La Rue has spilled the beans on exactly how she whipped Jen, 46, into shape for her new flick. 'We worked on lifting heavier weights, usually around [7kg]', Simone tells, revealing that Jennifer worked out for one to two hours a day, six days a week to prepare for her part as a vengeful murderess. 'We also did a lot of bodyweight work, supplemented with my custom resistance bands.'

Jen's had no shortage of real-life resistance lately. She was forced to stage an intervention last week for ex-husband Ben Affleck after his drinking spiralled out of control once again. The actress was snapped driving the visibly upset 46-year-old to rehab for what will be his third stint. But Jen didn't let her ex's drama stop her from wowing at the premiere – in fact, she looked better than ever. Go get 'em, Jen!

Margot's hubby

'KEEPING AN EYE ON BRAD!'

Tom's understandably on edge

THE PAIR'S ON-SET CHEMISTRY HAS MARGOT'S MAN CONCERNED – AND WHO COULD BLAME HIM!

Brad Pitt has been giving off some serious Robert Redford vibes on the set of Once Upon A Time in Hollywood recently. And while many have been keeping a watchful eye on the single star since his divorce from Angelina Jolie, there's one person who has his sights fixed on Brad for a very different reason!

Margot Robbie's husband Tom Ackerley began dropping by the set recently, not long after an insider told Life & Style that the 54-year-old was developing a bit of a crush on his co-star. The British film director is 'keeping a close eye on Brad', a source close to the couple, both 28, reveals. 'He hopes his presence sends a powerful message: steer clear of Margot!'

Having worked on film The Big Short together back in 2015, Brad was said to be thrilled when the blonde beauty was cast alongside him for the Quentin Tarantino flick. 'They get along very well, and Brad's super-excited to be working with her [again],' an insider shares.

Brad does have a history of dating his leading ladies – nine, to be exact, including Too Young to Die?'s Juliette Lewis, Se7en's Gwyneth Paltrow and, of course, Mr & Mrs Smith's Angelina Jolie. And his interest in the young actress hasn't gone unnoticed!

'It's obvious that Brad's completely smitten with Margot,' another source tells, noting that their fellow co-star Leonardo DiCaprio, 43, has also noticed the pair's close camaraderie on set. '[Leo] has called him out for layering it on so thick [with Margot].'

Although the War Machine star 'insists he knows she's off limits' and is 'just awed by Margot's talent', Tom's not taking any chances. '[He] doesn't want them socialising off set,' says the first source. 'And he's told Margot he won't stand for it!'

And while Margot's simply smitten with her hubby, calling him 'the best-looking guy in London', Brad's Hollywood heart-throb status would be enough to make any man worried! 'This has to be hard for Tom, who's a trusting guy, but anyone in his position would find it tough,' admits the insider.

'If she wasn't married, there's no doubt whatsoever he'd be asking her out in a heartbeat,' says an insider

'Brad's very taken with Margot, and their chemistry's the talk of the cast,' says an insider

THEY'VE GOT HISTORY

It's not the pair's first rodeo! Brad and Margot first crossed paths when he hired the actress for a small part on his film The Big Short. 'Brad has had his eye on Margot for years,' shared a source. 'He jumped at the chance to squeeze her into the role.'

HIS CO-STAR CRUSHES!

While Brad previously claimed that Mr & Mrs Smith was his favourite movie because he 'fell in love' during filming, we counted a total of nine times Brad has had the hots for his co-star, and ended up dating them!

TAKING A TOLL

Despite her efforts to hide her shrinking frame, friends of the Pretty Woman star fear the state of her marriage is damaging her health.

FRIENDS FEAR THE OSCAR-WINNER'S SHRINKING FRAME IS NO ACT

Julia Roberts once said the secret to living a happy life was to 'marry the right person'. But sadly, the star's second hubby Daniel Moder may no longer be her Mr Right. Fans were stunned when Hollywood's golden girl stepped out looking extremely gaunt and stressed in LA recently – and pals think her weight loss is a direct result of her and Danny's marriage reaching crisis point.

'It looks like she weighs about 46kg, which is very skinny for someone of her height,' an

'I've never met a cookie I didn't like,' Julia once quipped

Instead of focusing on repairing his marriage, Danny's 'been devoting his time to the kids [and] friends,' says an insider expert says of the 175cm tall star. '[It's very clear] she's not taking care of herself and that she's spreading herself too thin.'

In recent months, multiple US outlets have been reporting that Julia and Danny's 16-year marriage is hanging by a thread, amid claims their separation is imminent. 'Of course it would be very sad if they split. But sometimes two people just fall out of love with each other,' an insider tells. 'Julia likes to promote this image of the happy family, but the truth is far from it. Friends think they could divorce soon.'

It wasn't always this way, though. 'When I think about what makes my life my life – and makes sense and just [shines] inside of me – it's him. Everything has come from that for me,' Julia previously gushed of how meeting Danny changed her life.

Those close to the couple believe the shine wore off when Julia, 50, returned to work after putting her career on the backburner to care for the couple's three kids – twins Phinnaeus and Hazel, 13, and Henry, 11.

'Julia's career is red-hot again, and that has been a big source of contention for her and Danny,' claims the insider. Right after Jules wrapped filming on her upcoming drama Ben Is Back last year, she jumped straight into shooting TV series Homecoming for Amazon.

She also has a further 12 projects in the works! 'As stressed as Julia is, she's refusing to cut back on her work schedule,' reveals the source. 'She knows how easily an actress can be forgotten in Hollywood.'

Cinematographer Danny, 49, is just as eager to work. He hasn't shot anything since last year's Netflix movie Ibiza, and is busy playing house husband while Julia's away filming.

The arrangement, however, has only intensified the tension between the couple. 'Danny hates it when he's not behind the camera… he's miserable,' says a second source.

It seems the reason Julia doesn't like Danny working is because she's afraid he might stray. Her fears are warranted, given Danny was married to Vera Steimberg when he and Julia fell in love on the set of shooting The Mexican in 2000. 'She worries karma could be coming her way,' claims the source.

With a net worth of $192 million, a divorce could be costly for Julia, if Danny is entitled to a large chunk of that. 'They still care about each other,' adds the insider. 'But they're realising their problems could be too great to overcome.'

After fielding divorce rumours for months, Julia was seen carting boxes out of her and Danny's LA home on August 9, fuelling rumours that they're already estranged

HAS SHE ALREADY MOVED OUT?

Last month, Julia was spotted moving some of her belongings out of the LA home she shares with Danny, amid rumours they're living apart. 'They have been having issues for a while now,' reports NW. 'They want to make it work for the sake of the kids, but it's hard.' Although the couple have tried their best to recapture the spark they had at the beginning of their relationship, it's just not working. 'It would be a real shame if they split,' adds the source.

AUDRINA PATRIDGE AND STEPHANIE PRATT GIVE US DÉJÀ VU AS FILMING KICKS OFF

Whitney Port is gearing fans up for another round of Hills drama (insert single black tear!). 'I don't know exactly who's going to be on it. It's really scary,' says Whit, 33, whose co-stars Audrina Patridge and Stephanie Pratt, 32, have began filming the first scenes in LA.

The ladies looked right at home after an eight-year hiatus, treating the cameras to air kisses and stiff hello hugs – so LA! 'I started filming when I was 18 years old and I didn't finish until I was 25,' says Audrina, who's now a mother to daughter Kirra, two. At 33, she's embroiled in bitter divorce proceedings with Aussie Corey Bohan, who appeared on a number of Hills episodes himself.

'People went on that journey with us. We were so young and going through so much,' Audrina admits, explaining that years on, fans are still intrigued by the famous foursome – Audrina, Lauren Conrad, 32, Heidi Pratt, 31, and Whitney – and their co-stars.

'It was about four girls becoming friends and making it in LA, and dating. It was something that had not been done yet, and I think people care so much now because they grew up with us,' she explains. 'The thing is, we're still young, and after following our dating lives and our friendship ups and downs and the emotional roller-coasters at parties, people are interested in that next chapter.'

WHITNEY TELLS ALL
'LC MIGHT BE BACK!'

The Hills: New Beginnings is picking up where the show left off eight years ago. 'It's crazy news!' says Whitney, who's signed on (insert squeal). Here, she answers some of our burning questions...

When will you begin shooting your first scenes?
We're starting to film at the end of September, and I'm really nervous and excited. We're filming for 10 weeks.

Will your hubby Tim Rosenman and son Sonny, 13 months, be on it?
Sonny will be on The Hills here and there. Timmy and Sonny are a huge part of my life so I think they'll be on there to like, show what's actually going on, but I don't want them to be a huge, huge part of it.

Do you know if Lauren Conrad's returning for the reboot?
I don't think so, but I can't say for sure, honestly.

Are you still friends with LC?
We chatted a little bit when we were pregnant, right before we had our babies. But we don't really keep in touch anymore, honestly. Everyone gets older and has their own lives, and she lives in Laguna [Beach] now.

Were you always going to say yes to a reboot?
I originally didn't want to do it. And it took Timmy and I a while to think about it and mull it over, then talk to the production company and really feel comfortable with it. I'm still nervous and think there are going to be moments like, when I have regrets and think, 'What the hell did I do?'

When will the reboot air?
In January 2019. Get ready!

WHO KNEW?

LC and Steph are still close! Here, they went hiking near Lauren's Laguna Beach home. Beg her to return, Steph!

Kate and Nikolai have both given up alcohol

THE MODEL TURNS TEETOTAL FOR THE SAKE OF HER HEALTH

She once drank so much that she was nicknamed 'The Tank', but Kate Moss is a new woman these days. The supermodel – who's been known to down prosecco in the morning, wine and vodka at lunch, then party into the night – made the decision to quit booze a year ago.

And much to her pals' surprise, Kate, 44, has stuck to it. 'Kate has changed so much,' an insider told The Sun. 'She used to drink everything – beer, prosecco, wine and vodka, and would often have a drink in the back of her chauffeur's Merc. She would turn up to places and cause a scene – but she's in control now.'

BOOZE BEGONE!

During the UK summer, Kate avoided the usual hedonistic resorts while cruising the Mediterranean on a luxury yacht and opted to visit a health retreat instead. 'Kate has had a relaxing and low-key summer,' says the insider. The supermodel was accompanied by her beau Count Nikolai Von Bismarck, 31, ex-partner Jefferson Hack, 47, and their 15-year-old daughter Lila. 'In Turkey, she and Nikolai spent some time in a health spa. They have also been to Greek islands, including Corfu.'

It's a far cry from Kate's previous summer breaks. In June 2015, she celebrated the end of a week-long detox by downing wine and vodka, and then had to be escorted off an EasyJet flight back to Britain. Witnesses revealed how a 'tipsy' Kate became disruptive when she was unable to sit next to pal Sadie Frost, and allegedly called the female pilot a 'basic bitch' before being ushered off the plane.

In August 2016, after a brief spell off the booze, Kate fell off the wagon again during a trip to Greece with Nikolai and his friends. And last May, the model had a drunken row with a guest at the Cannes Film Festival.

But fast forward to 2018, and the mum-of-one's a completely different person. In July, Kate looked happy and healthy at the Adidas Prouder campaign launch, where onlookers noticed she avoided booze and left after just an hour. 'It was very unlike Kate, as she turned up on time, did what she had to do and left. Nikolai was there as well, and looking healthy,' says another source. 'It just showed how Kate has taken back control of her life and is healthy and extremely professional these days.'

REFORMED PARTY GIRL

Her resolve to lay off the booze was strengthened after the tragic death of her close pal Annabelle Neilson in July. The former heroin addict passed away from a heart attack aged 49. 'You might have imagined Kate seeking solace in drink but it has had the opposite effect, as Annabelle was a wild child and Kate took it as a warning,' shared the insider.

While her job means you'll still see the supermodel out at events, the reformed party girl now enjoys mocktails on a night out and only attends for an hour, posing for photos and then heading home for the night. 'Everyone is amazed at how well she has done at not drinking for a whole year, considering what she used to be like,' tells the insider. 'But she has found it easier as time has gone on – and when you see her, she's actually more chatty and confident as she doesn't have that fake confidence that drinking gives you.'

The blonde beauty has also avoided moving in with her toy boy beau, so that the couple can focus on their sobriety separately. 'Kate is like a new woman and a much better version of herself,' the insider reveals. 'She's focused, professional and glowing with health.'

‘I want to finish this album and then definitely, for sure,’ Ash says of adding to her brood, who shares Bronx, nine, with her ex Pete Wentz, and Jagger, three, with Evan

JESSICA’S LITTLE SIS AND HER BEAU KEEP IT REAL FOR THE CAMERAS

Her sister Jessica Simpson’s marriage to Nick Lachey may have crumbled during their stint on reality TV, but Ashlee Simpson-Ross admits she’s not worried about how her relationship with hubby Evan Ross, 30, will fare on their new series, Ashlee + Evan. ‘We love each other a lot,’ the 33-year-old gushes.

Here, the couple open up exclusively to OK! about their relationship – warts and all…

So, let’s talk about the decision to make a reality show together.

Evan: I don’t think it was ever like, ‘Let’s do a reality show together.’ We had been asked numerous times, separately and together, to do a show that was reality-based, but it wasn’t something that we were that interested in doing. But we did know that we’d love to share our story a little bit, while being in the process of making an album. And in that process of making an album, we started filming it, and we thought it would be a really interesting way to do something different in the reality world and do something that is more of a documentary-kind of 'Creating our music. Creating ideas together. Building things as a family, it's something that I feel is special,' Evan gushes

SISTERLY SUPPORT

'You have to be confident in who you are and what you're standing for, and I think she is,' Jessica says of her sister's return to reality TV.

Remembering her own days on Newlyweds, Jess says, 'I was shocked that she said yes to [a reality show]'

Evan says his mum Diana's best parenting advice was 'follow your gut'

ENDLESS LOVE

'It's a surprise,' Evan shared of whether his music legend mama Diana Ross will make an appearance on the series.

'We're very cautious,' says Ashlee of including their daughter Jagger and her son Bronx on the show a series… We wanted it to feel unique and have something that ties the music in a different kind of a way, where it's not just this glossy kind of thing.

Ashlee: Also, it's another way for everyone to connect to us and to be led into our lives.

Ash, did your sister Jessica give you any advice?
Ashlee: [Laughs] No. She didn't. But I have done reality before, while making my first album many, many years ago. This is a totally different process that we're coming into, and even though back then it was with great people, this has been fun with my husband and we're definitely doing something different.
Evan: It's a different kind of vibe.
Ashlee: And it's nice to see something about love, and I feel that we have a good love and we love each other and it's fun to share that in our music.
Evan: Nothing is fake about it, and it's definitely the process of us making an album, But the majority is about our lives together and being a family and parents.

The track record for couples who do a reality show isn't the best. Are you worried that having cameras around will put a strain on your marriage?
Ashlee: No.
Evan: No, we're doing something different.
Ashlee: We're also making an album together. For us, this is just like a piece of our love and just something that we're sharing.
Evan: I also think that if something like this can ruin a relationship, you're probably not meant to be in it.

Will fans see an accurate portrayal of your life during the series, which may not always be picture perfect?
Ashlee: Yeah, you get to see the reality and that is the way it goes. Not every day is perfect.
Evan: Whether you try to make it that way or not.
Ashlee: There are things that are challenging as parents and all that, and you'll see that as well. Like, with me getting back to work and putting out an album after a very long time.

Ashlee, of course you're no stranger to the camera. But you've had a bit of a hiatus – how have you handled it now that you're older and wiser?
Ashlee: Yeah, it's actually been wonderful. For the past 10 years I've been focusing on being a parent, and I've been having a fun time doing this. But it's something that I love to do and get back into, and it's been really nice.

> IF SOMETHING LIKE THIS CAN RUIN A RELATIONSHIP, YOU'RE NOT MEANT TO BE IN IT

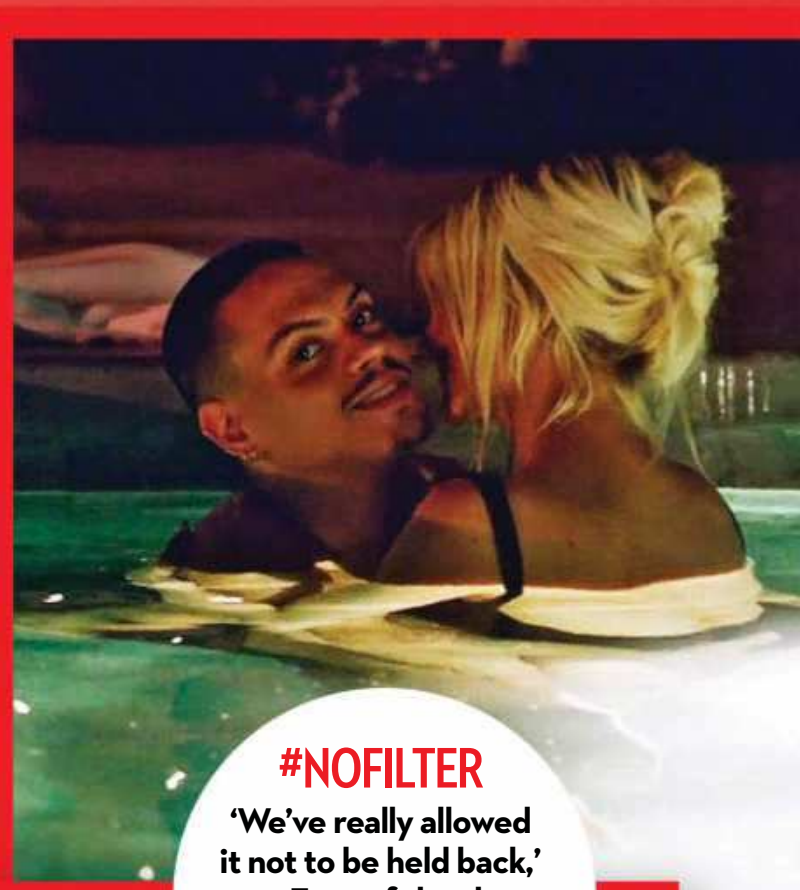

You're a reality television pioneer, Ashlee. Has the landscape changed in terms of how the stories are being told?
Ashlee: Yeah, it's definitely a different time, and I feel like with reality and the way we're shooting it's different than, gosh, like 15 years or something. But there are definitely different beats that are interesting, and sometimes kind of knowing where we're going and stuff like that. It's different.

So, can you talk about the album itself?
Ashlee: When we first started dating that was one of the things that drew us to each other – making music. We would always sing together and sit outside, and that was something that we just connected on at the beginning of our relationship. So I feel like that was something. Then we started making music together about four years ago, and now we've finally been able to set aside the time to actually do it and put it out.
Evan: Yeah, I think it was that, and then deciding to actually do the show was a process. We knew we wanted to document the process of making an album. We knew we wanted a way to kind of share our love and what we had been working on. We wanted to do it in a unique kind of way, where people would get to know us. But not the way that people feel like they know us, or heard about the way we are with our family, or how we are with our friends.

We can't wait to get a glimpse into your everyday lives – recording, parenting, famous families and all!
Evan: We share it the way we would like to share it. The honesty behind it, and not just to make a great show, but to show the truth behind everything. So it was a process, it was a process for us.

Evan, your mum is superstar Diana Ross. And Ashlee, your sister started out as a popstar before starting a billion dollar lifestyle company. What's it like growing up with a famous surname?
Ashlee: I feel like our families have given us the greatest lessons.
Evan: We have a strong family, and it's like both of ours together. But I think you see that as well, where a lot of our guidance comes from, and mine is very much all of my sisters, but to see how they're evolving when the time comes, and it'll be a surprise.
Ashlee: I also think that love is always the most important thing. These things don't make or break you, but who you are and how your family is and all of that is what grounds you.

GET TO KNOW THE ACTRESS AHEAD OF HER EXCITING REAL HOUSEWIVES DEBUT!

She's been raising eyebrows since stepping onto the scene in the '90s, and now Denise Richards will no doubt be shaking things up as she officially joins The Real Housewives of Beverly Hills. 'I'm so excited to join the [RHOBH] cast as I'm a huge fan of the show,' says the 47-year-old. 'I'm looking forward to spending time with all the ladies… and hopefully meeting Boy George!'

HOW DO WE KNOW HER?

An aspiring model and actress, Denise landed small TV roles in '90s shows like Saved by the Bell, Married… with Children, Beverly Hills: 90210 and Melrose Place before her big break in 1998.

Getting cast in Wild Things cemented Denise as a Hollywood It girl before her personal life began making headlines. Denise rode the Charlie Sheen roller-coaster and lived

'So blessed to be your mum,' Denise shared on Insty of her three daughters – Lola, Sam and Eloise, seven

Former MRS SHEEN

Denise and Charlie met in 1991 and were married 11 years later. 'When I met Charlie, he truly was, in my eyes, the man I wanted to have a life with,' recalls Denise. 'I was ignorant to a lot of different things in his past, but I believe everyone deserves a second chance.' The couple share two daughters – Sam, 14, and Lola, 13.

'She doesn't live in Beverly Hills,' says Charlie of his ex joining RHOBH. But the actor has hinted he'll be making an appearance. 'If they're rolling and I pull up to drop off one of the girls, then I'll be on it,' Charlie tells

While sources say, 'Erika [Jayne] is already annoyed that so many actresses are on the show,' Denise is already pals with Camille Grammer, Lisa and Dorit Kemsley

Roll camera! Denise's pay cheque of $1.3 million for her debut season might put her co-stars offside

to tell the tale. But just four years into their marriage – and two children later – she filed for divorce claiming that Charlie, 52, was unfaithful and abusive towards her, both verbally and physically. 'I didn't know that person,' says Denise. 'And then, as the marriage went on, things came out and I filed for divorce.'

HER MESSY SPLIT

When her tumultuous divorce from Charlie was dragged into court, Denise also sought a restraining order for the safety of herself and her children. 'I went through the most difficult divorce and custody battle, publicly, which made it 10 times harder,' says Denise. 'I had two babies and I just wanted to know that I did everything I could to make the marriage and the family unit work. I had a lot of guilt splitting up our family.'

After getting full custody of their daughters Sam, 14, and Lola, 13, Denise also stepped in to help care for Charlie's twin boys Max and Bob, now nine, while his third wife Brooke Mueller was in rehab battling drug addiction for brief periods in 2010 and 2013. 'This is not the first time... they're Sam and Lola's brothers,' Denise said at the time. 'Brooke knows anytime, and Charlie, that any time they need help with the boys, that I'm there.'

MODEL MUM

Of all her successes, Denise counts motherhood as her greatest achievement. 'I love being a mum more than anything,' she says.

And in 2011, Denise's dreams of another child came true with the adoption of daughter Eloise, now seven. 'I've always wanted more children and I had to make a decision: Do I wait to find the right partner, or do I do it on my own?' Denise said at the time. 'So I just did it on my own.'

And the actress says it was the best decision she ever made. 'I wanted to be a parent and wanted to raise my kids,' she says. 'Motherhood has changed my whole outlook on life. It's wonderful to see life through their eyes.'

Given her own colourful life, the actress has some important life lessons she'd like to pass on to her girls. 'I teach our daughters to be themselves, to stand up for what they believe in. I teach them not to give in to peer pressure and that it's okay to have an opinion that's different from other people's opinions,' she notes.

IT'S NOT THE STAR'S FIRST (REALITY) RODEO!

The actress is definitely no stranger to reality TV. She even had her own show Denise Richards: It's Complicated in 2008, but that didn't happen without a fight from her ex-husband.

Charlie initially objected to being on the show and tried to ban their daughters from appearing on it, accusing Denise of taking advantage of their children. 'Everyone says I'm exploiting the kids, but they haven't even seen one episode,' she said at the time. 'I'm in a no-win situation. If I have my kids on the show, I'm exploiting them. If I don't, people will think I'm not a hands-on mum.'

In hindsight, Denise says she still can't understand her ex-husband's objections. 'If Charlie and I had decided together to keep our kids away from the media, I would understand where he's coming from now,' says Denise. 'But we made the decision as a couple not to shield our children. I'm always pleasant to photographers around the girls because I don't want them to be fearful. They didn't ask to be born into this life.'

> I HAD A LOT OF GUILT [ABOUT] SPLITTING UP OUR FAMILY

The mum-of-three ended up back in court with Charlie to get permission, which she ultimately got – and her daughters appeared on the series, which ran for two seasons.

RHOBH: IT'S BEEN A LONG TIME COMING!

A longtime fan of the show, the actress has reportedly been in talks with producers of RHOBH for years! 'Denise has been wanting to join the show for a long time,' one source revealed of the star. 'She's a huge Housewives fan and watches all of the shows. And she has close relationships with many of the women in real life, including Kyle [Richards] and Lisa Rinna.'

And after her fair share of ups and downs, Denise says she's finally now settled enough to make her reality TV return. 'I went through a lot and have been really private about a lot of things, and [I'm] just in a really good place right now... and thought it would be fun, so I thought, "Why not?"' she tells. We can't wait!

HER NEW HUNK!

Denise's latest love Aaron Phypers, 47, has his own ties to RHOBH. Aaron's ex-wife – actress Nicollette Sheridan – was also married to Denise's new co-star Lisa Rinna's husband, Harry Hamlin – juicy! While her new boyfriend is bound to be a hot topic, Denise is also open to discussing her past marriage to Charlie Sheen. 'Anyone that's gone through a divorce or has a partner they're no longer with... I think [RHOBH viewers] will be able to relate,' Denise explains. 'He and I are in a good place today. I always focus on that, and focus on the girls. They don't need to be privy to any discord.'

Aaron and Nicollette's six-month marriage ended in 2016, but was only finalised last month

Starring in the erotic thriller Wild Things back in 1998 put Denise (and her bangin' bod) on the map

Only Denise could pull off a flag-waving musical number while wearing a Mount Rushmore headdress in Drop Dead Gorgeous in 1999!

Denise, who appears in the new family flick Destined to Ride, has enjoyed a steady acting career

'I'm not a SEX SYMBOL'

While Denise never had an issue landing film roles (from Drop Dead Gorgeous to becoming a Bond girl!), she insists there were some roles she could never go for. 'I couldn't get cast as "the girl next door", even though that was how I always saw myself,' she says. 'I didn't see myself as a sex symbol. I was a girl from Illinois.'

Who wore it BETTER?

They stepped out in style, but one star came out on top!

KAIA GERBER VS KOURTNEY KARDASHIAN

There's no doubt these black Dickies slacks are made for washboard abs, but Kaia's loose tee feels effortlessly cooler than Kourt's tighter choice.

NAOMI CAMPBELL VS CARA DELEVINGNE

Lean physiques are elongated further in this floor-skimming, futuristic Iris Van Herpen gown, and Cara keeps the theatrics up with a slicked-back 'do.

MELANIA TRUMP VS LILY ALDRIDGE

This bright J Mendel dress oozes all the fairytale vibes, however Lily's bold accessories bring the look into the now. Melania, meanwhile, could pass as Belle!

SHE DID!

ALESSANDRA AMBROSIO VS GWYNETH PALTROW

All that leg needs serious cover-up to balance it out, which Gwyn delivers like a pro by pulling up the Retrofete dress' neckline.

SHE DID!

RITA ORA VS DAKOTA JOHNSON

Too many trends, Rita! Dakota's oversized jacket shines against her simple denim-and-tee combo. The bum bag and clunky sneakers are just too much.

SHE DID!

JULIANNE MOORE VS LUCY LIU

It's hard to separate their individual takes on the form-fitting Givenchy mini, but Lucy's wide belt distracts from the elegance of the piece.

BRIGHT-eyed

This season's new make-up trend is the opposite of minimalist

POPPY DELEVINGNE

MISSONI

Being a wallflower is not an option this summer, so ditch your beige and embrace bright hues when it comes to your make-up. Bold eye colour was all the rage at spring and summer runway shows for Marni and Missoni, with our fave celebs following suit. With electric blues, neon greens and sunset hues reigning supreme, you can wear this as dramatic or as subtle as you please. We love a slick of teal along the bottom lash line, or if make-up is your middle name, have fun mixing multiple tones on your lids. Top off with lashings of mascara and big fake lashes for extra wow factor – and don't forget a defined brow!

"I wanted to walk out the front door, leaving my baby twins behind"

BRAVE MUM KELLIE EXPLAINS WHY LIPTEMBER, RAISING FUNDS FOR WOMEN'S MENTAL HEALTH, IS SO IMPORTANT

Former flight attendant and mum-of-three Kellie Cleland says she clearly remembers a time when, with a three-year-old son and twin babies at home, she wanted to just head out her front door and just keep on walking.

"It should have been the happiest time," she says, of having three longed-for children, all conceived through IVF. "But all I felt was an incredibly numbness, a sensation that I couldn't cope with any of it."

Twins Morgan and Olivia were born five weeks early and needed to be both breast and bottle fed every three hours, leaving only 15 or 20 minutes at a time for Kellie to sleep.

That relentless lack of sleep, on top of self-doubt after months of IVF treatment, and looking after energetic three-year-old son Jesse, lead to what she describes as "an impossible situation".

"Things had to come to a head. I was stumbling through my days but I wasn't present," she recalls. "I didn't want to be here any longer."

It was the young mum's maternal health nurse who noticed the danger signs and encouraged Kellie to get help.

"I booked into a mother and baby unit where I was diagnosed with suicidal and chronic depression. It was caught just in time," she recalls. Now 47 and living on the Sunshine Coast with her three children, Kellie says that in retrospect and after many years of counselling, she realises she'd suffered with depression since her early teens.

"I got my period at 13 and was diagnosed with polycystic ovary syndrome and I think looking back that my cycle of highs and lows and long periods of feeling miserable and desperate started then. "If only I had known to seek help, things wouldn't have gotten so bad. I look back on photographs of the twins when they were young and I don't even remember being there. I obviously was, but it's like that part of time is missing."

It's for this reason that every time September rolls around, Kellie buys a bright new lipstick and gets ready to raise funds for Liptember, a campaign raising awareness and funds to support women's mental health.

Orange IS THE NEW BLACK

Fire up your hair game with a warm new hue

Orange hair, don't care! Call it the Donald Trump effect, but Sydney-based colourist Daniel Skinner says he's been getting a ton of requests from clients to go orange. 'Brassy hair is in for 2018,' says Daniel. From neon locks like Rita's to beautiful copper tresses like Julianne's, there's various orange hues available to flatter all skin tones. If you want to try it, be sure to talk to your colourist about what would complement your skin tone. 'Depending on your undertones, I'll mix in some pinks or hints of brown to really bring the colour alive. If you're after a slightly edgier look, keep your roots darker and do an ombre effect, with it fading down into rich sunset hues,' Daniel explains.

TIP
Be sure to use colour save shampoos and conditioners to keep your locks vibrant.

If you're a colour chameleon, protect your hair between salon visits with a strengthening superstar by Olaplex.

Kim KISSES CARBS GOODBYE!

The star spills her Atkins secret to keeping trim

Kim Kardashian's looking better than ever. The 159cm tall reality queen is now down to 54kg, thanks to the low-carb, high protein Atkins diet, plus a pretty serious workout regimen!

The 37-year-old's love affair with the Atkins diet began at university when she wanted to drop a few kilos. '[Kim] was originally introduced to the diet by her father,' says Kim's diet advisor Colette Heimoweitz. 'It's very familiar to her and she trusts the plan because it worked so well for her in the past.'

Although the Atkins diet used to be all about shunning carbs, the modern iteration is about low carbs, high protein, high fibre and healthy fats – and Kimmy K's best weapon is her self-control. 'With pasta, you really have to stay within a certain amount so you don't gain weight,' Colette says. 'Don't have three cups of pasta – you have it as a side, like a half a cup. There's always ways around substituting and having clean cheats that give you the same sensation without sacrificing your diet,' Colette explains. 'As you get to your weight loss goals, you can add a little bit more carbohydrate because you don't have as much weight to lose.'

Food is only one part of the weight loss puzzle. The mum-of-three trains six days a week for 60 to 90 minutes at a time, with one day totally devoted to abs. Sometimes she'll squeeze in an extra fitness sesh, such as a boxing or a treadmill stint in between filming or other obligations.

TIP

The reality star credits 'self-control' in addition to her Atkins regimen and limits her portion sizes.

'She loves and hates leg days, but she's committed,' says Kim's trainer Melissa Alcantara. 'She knows what it takes, but it's also really gruelling. It's heavy, it's a killer, but she'll be like, "Alright, let's do it!" She's a workhorse.' Adds the trainer, 'She can't believe how much has changed over the last few months... She just keeps it up. She's focused and she has a goal in mind.'

Kim follows a bodybuilding program that contains deadlifts and lunges with weights

Keeping up with Kim

How she maintains those killer curves

Kim's favourite exercises involve the hamstring curl machine, glutes and curls, and she's also a big fan of resistance equipment, such as Swiss balls and medicine balls. The most brutal? A pike-up, where you put your feet on a Swiss ball and your body in a plank position. You slowly roll the ball towards your chest and then back to the starting position. And as for that famous butt, Kim's trainer says, 'You'll need to learn how to squat [front and back squats in all variations], deadlift and lunge with heavy-ass weights.'

5-DAY MEAL PLAN

Follow this simple plan and watch the weight fall off – just like it did for Kim!

dallyeden We wanted to share with you, that after much deliberation, we have quietly parted ways.
We look back and cherish the time we have spent together, the memories we have created, in both Spain and in Australia.
We can't thank each and everyone of you enough, for the support and love you have shown us, but we have to be honest within ourselves as we realise that our forever as a couple, is no longer.

We look forward to supporting each other moving forward and remain best friends.

tashacherie This cute t-shirt says guilty but I am NOT GUILTY of breaking up my two closest friends from the villa. I just want to nip this in the bud now because some of the dm's I'm receiving are very distressing (death threats) and it is quite upsetting reading these disgusting hateful comments on mine and other people's posts from randoms blaming me for Eden's and Erin's break up. It has nothing to do with me and to be honest I would have thought they would have done a instagram story or post telling everyone to leave me out of it and call to see if I'm okay.

HIS SHOCK SPLIT FROM ERIN HAS ROCKED LOVE ISLAND FANS – BUT NOT CASTMATES

Hot on the heels of announcing their plans to start a family using IVF, Eden Dally and Erin Barnett have called it quits. 'It's pretty upsetting, but unfortunately these things happen,' Eden tells OK! following the Love Island runner-up's joint announcement with his girlfriend of two months, Erin.

The exes thanked fans for their support, and then just a short time later, whispers began circulating about a third party being involved in the surprise break-up. After partying with Eden for his 26th birthday sans Erin, 23, fellow contestant Natasha Webster was forced to defend herself after receiving death threats, and even garnered support from Eden's loved ones. 'You're all class Tash. Don't stress these fools,' Eden's brother Trent commented, while a fan encouraged her to 'ignore the hate'.

Erin kept quiet after Tash's public plea to be left alone, however another housemate claims he knew they'd broken up long before the announcement. Eden's nemesis Grant Crapp says, 'From what I've heard they broke up a few weeks ago. The cat's out of the bag!'

BRITTNEY WELDON

Brittney, 25, tells OK! she's not a stranger to bad romance, and admits to being catfished while another dud date 'spoke in third person'. Unfortunately, Britt says she's only ever been on four dates. She's hopeful she'll win Nick over.

DEANNA SALVEMINI

Dental nurse Deanna, 28, was an elite swimmer in her past life. 'Going to Olympic trials and racing my childhood heroes' is her proudest achievement to date, and she hopes The Bachelor can top her worst date ever – a 'double date to a pub'.

JAMIE-LEE DAYZ

'My ex-girlfriend cleaned my house and made my dinner after I worked a 16-hour shift, and left little reminder notes about what she loved about me all around my house,' Jamie-Lee, 27, tells OK! of the most romantic thing anyone's ever done for her.

CAT TELLS 'IT'S THE NICK SHOW'

'It's very much the Nick show, and it's a lot to do with him,' says Cat Henesy, 24, who thinks The Bachelor Nick Cummins, 30, could put in a bit more effort with the ladies this season. 'His eyes glaze over with disinterest when you talk about anything important to you.' As for the intruders, who made their grand entrance on Wednesday night's episode, Cat says they aren't Nick's type, or hers! 'I mean, they're not my cup of tea. New girls come in all confident and completely disregard the emotions, and the ups and downs you've had.'

Bill returned to Port Hope on August 31 to start filming scenes for the sequel

Prepare to be freaked out. It: Chapter 2 has begun filming in Canada, and we officially have chills running down our spines. The world's scariest clown Pennywise was spotted sitting atop a lumberjack statue's shoulder on August 31, as filming kicked off for the second It instalment in Port Hope – the same town where the 2017 flick was shot.
A year on from its release, Bill Skarsgård's unrecognisable as the evil clown. But, according to him, tapping into Pennywise's personality is second nature. Eek! 'The work and preparation, and figuring out the character is almost intuitive, which is pretty cool,' says the handsome 28-year-old Swedish actor. Pretty creepy, you mean! James McAvoy and Jessica Chastain are also starring in the sequel, which is scheduled for release in late 2019.

HOROSCOPES

PINK celebrates her 39th birthday on September 8

WONDER WHAT'S IN STORE FOR YOU? OK!'S INTUITIVE ASTROLOGER TO THE STARS, TEYMARA, TELLS ALL

VIRGO
AUG 24 - SEP 23

Now would be an ideal time to leave some people guessing, but opening up and telling it as it is wouldn't be wise because you're quite intimidating at times. This always fascinates you when it happens as you never understand why, and you see yourself as a very down-to-earth individual who's approachable and open. Try and see yourself through their eyes.

LIBRA
SEP 24 - OCT 23

You need to steer your life in a new direction, and you'll know when enough is enough. By looking for one thing, you'll uncover something out of the blue. But, in order to move forward, it's important to leave the past behind, so you may be thinking of taking some time out. If you have the time and money, then this would be an ideal moment to do it.

SCORPIO
OCT 24 - NOV 22

It's time to reassess your attitude toward money – the beliefs you hold about everything is learnt from childhood. If you're driven by greed and self-satisfaction, you need to understand where it came from. A lot of emotional happiness will come your way when you've overcome financial obstacles in your mind. There's a new home energy floating around you this week.

SAGITTARIUS
NOV 23 - DEC 21

There will be cause for celebration this week due to a career move. Others will bring forward an idea they've had for a long time, which will allow you to break free from restrictions that have made you powerless in the past. It'll feel like a weight has been lifted from your life. This is definitely a time to stand your ground over matters you think are out of your control.

CAPRICORN
DEC 22 - JAN 20

You'll find yourself feeling like you're at a crossroad, and to move forward you'll need to make decisions. Expect quite a bit of inner turmoil until a resolve is found. Being clear and balanced will help create a positive outcome. Offers coming out of the blue will find your mind working overtime. To go in a new direction, you'll have to leave something behind.

AQUARIUS
JAN 21 - FEB 19

Keep your eyes peeled for those who are ruled by money and position. They could cause you a great deal of worry this week and in the future. Something won't feel right about them when you're introduced – just know you're getting the feeling for a reason. If you haven't allowed yourself to be guided by your feelings before, it's time you did. Trust yourself!

PISCES
FEB 20 - MAR 20

Whatever upheavals manifest in your life now, you need to be thankful. It's all happening, so clear the decks for a complete new start. By the time you get to the end of this year, you'll understand what has happened and why. Experiencing the ups and downs has helped make you stronger. The downs occurred to bring to your attention what you need to master in your life.

ARIES
MAR 21 - APR 20

Now is the time to be the true power you're meant to be in the world. There will be a lot of new ideas going through your mind, so it's important you don't dismiss them like you have in the past. Write it all down and check how you feel about each entry. If a fear of failure surfaces this week, you need to deal with it immediately and focus on a successful outcome.

TAURUS
APR 21 - MAY 21

Expect surprising offers this week. The form they take has a lot to do with your past performance. There is a lot of inspiration floating around, so try to be open to everything, and you'll celebrate a victory to do with your career. Watch for people who just want to suck you dry. Any feelings of exhaustion will indicate it's time to check your adrenals.

GEMINI
MAY 22 - JUN 21

Expect a power-packed week. You may find yourself having many restless nights, so work out what's going on by writing down your thoughts. You'll establish a clearer picture by getting everything out of your head. But this exercise may bring unresolved emotions to the surface, so be ready for anything. It could affect many areas of your life.

CANCER
JUN 22 - JUL 23

You need a break. Feeling drained by your circumstances indicates you're ready for a refill. If you don't take time out for yourself, then feelings of depletion will surface. You're more than aware of this cycle and what it does to you. Move on this advice, and you'll be full of beans. Ignore it, and you'll have to take to your bed with exhaustion being the culprit.

LEO
JUL 24 - AUG 23

Don't allow anyone to tell you what to do or how to be. This is a great decision-making time where you could achieve anything. If you're single, you could find that special someone. But if you're taken, you need to deepen what you already have. It's an ideal time to strengthen family ties. If you're looking for a new beginning, you could be in for a lovely surprise!

Doppelgänger DAUGHTERS

THESE CELEB KIDS DEFINITELY GOT IT FROM THEIR MAMAS!

CHRISTIE BRINKLEY & SAILOR

The supermodel and her 20-year-old daughter could pass as twins. But to Sailor, her mum is more than just a pretty face, she's her 'inspiration'.

JENNIFER GARNER & VIOLET

The actress definitely found her mini-me in her eldest Violet, 12.

JESSICA ALBA & HONOR

If 10-year-old Honor starts borrowing her Mum's clothes, we literally won't be able to tell them apart!

KATIE HOLMES & SURI

Suri, 12, may have inherited Katie's looks, but the actress takes cues from her daughter, too! 'I listen to her,' she says. 'It's a daily thing.'

NICOLE RICHIE & HARLOW

'She's a different beast than me,' says Nicole of daughter Harlow, 10, despite their uncanny resemblance.

CATHERINE ZETA-JONES & CARYS

Glamorous mother-daughter duo Carys, 15, and Catherine look and dress the same!

FAKE

Double TROUBLE

Will the real Duke and Duchess of Sussex please stand up?! Fans of the newlyweds were royally tripping when these two made an appearance on TV. Plot twist: It's just two regular people promoting Madame Tussauds' brand new wax masks. Viewers were really creeped out by the impersonators.

Emma's ALL GROWN UP!

THEN

Viewers fell in love with Rachel and Ross' baby girl Emma on Friends! Now, prepare to feel really, really old. Noelle and Cali Sheldon (the twins who shared the role of Ross and Rachel's love child) are 16 years old! Yes, you read correct! Fourteen years after their sitcom debut, the sisters (pictured here at Central Perk) are making their on-screen return in Jordan Peele's thriller Us.

Ellen's #FAN-GIRLING

When Olivia Wilde showed off her portrait of Ellen DeGeneres, the comedienne was so flattered she repaid the favour. 'I love your photo,' Ellen tweeted to Olivia, who replied, 'I love YOU.' We just love how extra these two are. We want one of each!

HARRY 'S HALLE!

These photos aren't just of a young Prince Harry chilling in his Eton College dorm room. Look closely at the round wall hanging and you might catch a glimpse of sexy Halle Berry, too! The actress called him out in a tweet, tagging Missy Elliot who rapped in Work It, 'Don't I look like a Halle Berry poster?' Oh snap!

Halle Berry
@halleberry
Ok #PrinceHarry, I see you! #HalleBerryPosta @MissyElliot
pic.twitter.com/nTBS9hKwWO

GP'S not so PG!

Gwyn's dirty martini matches her sense of humour. When her selfie was turned into a meme that implied she was dreaming about male anatomy, she agreed! 'Ain't that the truth,' she wrote. Someone tag Brad Falchuk, please! Turns out her naughtiness has been shocking people for years! 'People think I'm pretty buttoned-up and prim and proper, but just tell me a joke about balls or something,' she laughs.

CHRISSY TEIGEN & JOHN LEGEND

The couple's two-year-old daughter Luna had an interesting first day of preschool. When Chrissy asks what she did in an Insty video, Luna sweetly replies, 'I push... I pushed a boy.'

DAX SHEPARD & KRISTEN BELL

Dax and Kristen are the cutest reminder that celebs are just like us. They walked daughter Lincoln, five, to her first day of kindy, but couldn't leave without one last cuddle.

Famous FIRST DAYS

IT REALLY DOESN'T COUNT UNLESS IT'S ON INSTAGRAM...

JESSICA SIMPSON & ERIC JOHNSON

'One day away from this boy's first day of kindergarten,' Jess wrote of her five-year-old son Ace.

SARAH MICHELLE GELLAR

'FINALLY (that's it),' the actress shared when her daughter Charlotte, eight, moved into year 3, and little Rocky, six, started kindy. They grow up so fast!

JANUARY JONES

January's son Xander, six, was so pumped about starting first grade that he threw in a celebratory dab to mark the occasion. He's too cool for school!

THE MIX

KATHARINE McPHEE

'I'M A COOL STEPMUM!'

Katharine McPhee, 34, doesn't hold back, not even with her fiancé David Foster's daughters! But it was his David's daughter Erin who brought the LOLs when a fan asked if it's awkward being two years older than her father's fiancée. Erin, 36, joked, 'I've started saying I'm 31, so now she's three years older than me. I'm a problem-solver.' Then, Katharine shut it down with the perfect Parent Trap quote. 'I'm shipping you and your sister off to Switzerland.' The savagery (and nostalgia) is real! #ModernFamily.

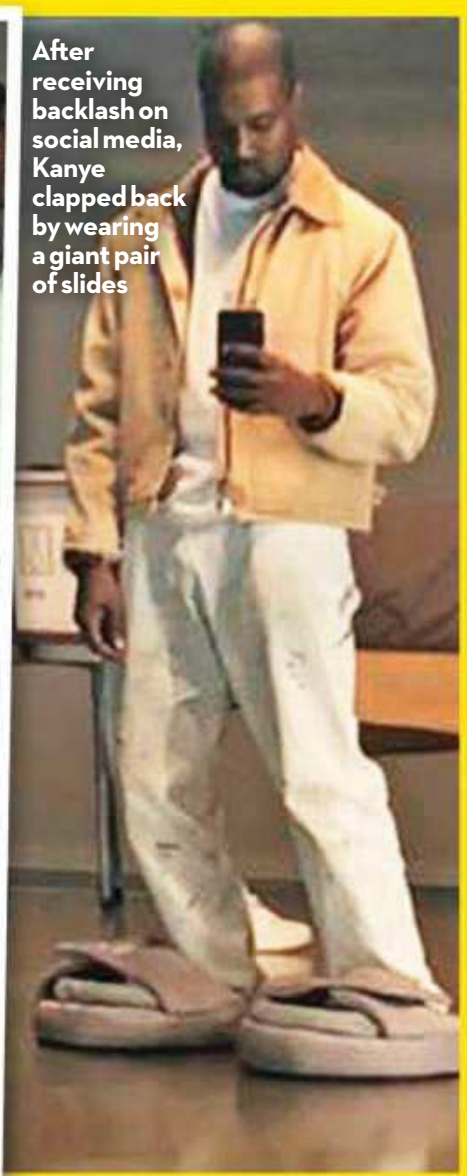

STYLED SLIDES

THE KANYE WAY

We have some serious questions about Kanye's latest fashion choices. After getting dragged on social media for trying to pull off the classic socks and slides combo (shrunken ones at that!) at 2 Chainz's wedding, the rapper felt the need to justify his outfit. So he did it the way Ye does everything these days... via Twitter. Chill guys, he was just wearing them 'the Japanese way'.

Fans savaged Kanye for rocking the 'prison slides' in public – and to a wedding!

After receiving backlash on social media, Kanye clapped back by wearing a giant pair of slides

There's something ABOUT BIEBER

Nobody does off-duty dressing like the Biebs, and now we have Justin's summer style decoded. Hawaiian shirt? Check. Shredded denim cut-offs? Check! Dirty moustache (Ted Healy style)? Double check! While Justin usually rocks this ensemble on his way to worship, this look could easily take him from pew to poolside. And if it's trendy enough for Hailey to tolerate, it's good enough for us!

The OK! AWARDS

SELFIE OF THE WEEK

Jarrod Camara and Leslie Walker scored a quick selfie with Keanu Reeves just before saying, 'I do'! 'He shook everyone's hands and then did that awesome pose for the picture,' said the groom's brother.

HBD OF THE WEEK

Lee Elliott recalled his Beauty and the Beast love story with Georgia Love on her musical-themed birthday. #DirtyThirty.

leeroyelliott I've always thought our love story was rather reminiscent of Beauty and the Beast. I mean you did lock me up in a house with strange characters, made me fight for your love and, of course, you had a magical rose!

TWINNIES OF THE WEEK

'Look who I saw in Boston today. Another me!' Gisele Bündchen was thrilled to meet her doppelgänger at Dreamland Wax Museum. Girl's got good hair!
